

Name That Instrument

This is a good challenge because it teaches the different instruments and promotes active listening. Students will listen closely and pick out as many different instruments and sounds as they can.

What You'll Need:

- Access to YouTube, Spotify, Apple Music, etc., or you can use songs you already have in your own collection.

How It Works:

- Pick the student's favorite song and see how many instruments (including the voice) they can name.
- Score a point for each one. If they can't identify it see if they can come up with words or sounds to describe what they're hearing.
- Bonus points for creative descriptions like "that one sounds like a duck blowing bubbles".
