

CURIOUSITY

This game should have at least 3 actors to play and can be played with 2 (two) different skill levels. The first has an actor starting in the middle of the group, they perform an action i.e.: washing dishes. Give the actor time to establish the action. Another actor, when ready, asks the first actor “Whatyadoin?”

The first actor must give the second actor a DIFFERENT action, such as ‘skateboarding.’ The second actor must act out skateboarding. Again, give the actor time to establish the action. The higher skill level of this game is played the same way but as soon as the questioning actor asks “Wha ...?” the first actor must hold (to the best of their ability) the pose and they MUST give an action that could be performed using the held pose.

For example, the actor is stopped in a pose with their arm held over their head. They could say ‘fishing’ ‘playing tennis’ or ‘hailing a cab in NYC.’